

The Daily Courant.

Friday, October 25 1706.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated October 29.

Schaffhuysen, October. 21.

THE Horse-Couriers of this Country are busier now than they have been known to be a long Time, in buying up Horses for the King of France; and the Boors are very ready to furnish the Markets, having an extravagant Price for their Horses. The Horse-Couriers have already bought up 2000, but most of them are too Young and unable to bear much Fatigue; yet they give 20 Pistoles for a Horse that they would not give above 10 for last Year. They talk they are to buy up 6000 more in this Country before the End of next Month. 'Tis reported the King of France has sent some Persons to Geneva, to procure a like Number of Horses from thence; and that he is resolv'd to spare no Cost to re establish his broken Cavalry.

From the Camp at Hagenbach, Oct. 24. Our Lines here will be perfected in 4 or 5 Days. The Enemy continue in their Lines behind the Lutter. General Thungen is gone to Rastad to Prince Lewis of Baden, to regulate the Winter Quarters for our Army, which will separate the Beginning of next Month. The Saxon Horse are returning into their own Country; but 'tis said 1 Battalion of Saxons and 2 of Muscovites will be kept for the Contingent of the Electorate of Saxony.

An Extract of a Letter from a Swedish Officer.

Leipsich, Oct. 15. The 13th Instant Count Wratislaw had Audience of the King of Sweden. He was very well receiv'd by his Majesty, the better because his Excellency had intimated beforehand that the Emperour far from approving the Remonstrances made at Ratisbon by some Members of the Empire touching the Expedition into Saxony, offer'd his good Offices to procure his Swedish Majesty sufficient Satisfaction in Relation to the War of Poland. We have receiv'd Advice, that the Marshal Potocki has defeated 2 considerable Parties that had pass'd the Vistula; and that a greater Number of the Enemy having since pass'd that River, the Polish and Lithuanian Troops of King Stanislaus in Number several Thousand have join'd the Body of Swedes under General Mardefeld. So that we are in Expectation to hear of a Battle from thence. Of the Saxon Troops that were driven out of this Electorate, and whom his Majesty has graciously allow'd to take Quarters in Thuringia, very few are come back, being so dispers'd that they cannot be got together again, especially since their Officers have abandon'd them and taken Service elsewhere. General Schulenburg is at Frankfurt on the Maine without any Troops. 8 or 900 Muscovites are roving about Franconia, not knowing whither to retire: In short there are none of the Enemy's Troops in Saxony, except the Garrison of Dreiden.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated Oct. 30.

Leipsich, Oct. 23. The 20th Instant the King of Sweden receiv'd Advice by several Couriers, that King Augustus of Poland having pass'd the Vistula was on the March towards great Poland; and that General Mardefeld had drawn all the Swedish Troops together, and was prepar'd to stand the Enemy tho' much stronger than he. Hereupon King Stanislaus and most of the Polish Persons of Quality have deserr'd their Departure for Poland, till they hear whether there has been an Action. The States of this Electorate having represented that they cannot undertake to levy the Contributions the King of Sweden demands, are threatned to be discharg'd, and are apprehensive they shall be made to suffer in their Persons and Estates. The King of Sweden was absent from his Head-Quarter the 21st, and 'tis suppos'd was then gone to take a Review of several Regiments, some of which have in the Night Time without Beat of Drum march'd towards the Frontier, in order to support General Mardefeld. The Deputies of Lusatia have taken Leave of the King of Sweden, at which Time his Majesty told them they must examine what Condition that Country is in, in order to regulate the Contributions demanded of them. The other Deputies of the States of this Electorate continue here, and have neither Leave to break up the Assembly, nor are their Remonstrances regarded. Yesterday Count Wratislaw had an Audience of Leave of his Swedish Majesty, and 'tis said will set out to Morrow for Vienna; 'tis also said that Minister has obtain'd nothing of the King of Sweden, but a Promise that this Invasion of Saxony shall not prejudice the Empire or the high Allies.

From the Amsterdam Gazette, dated Oct. 29.

Letters from Poland of the 16th Instant advise, that King Augustus had actually pass'd the Vistula with his whole Army, made up of Saxons, Poles, Muscovites and Cossacks; and that on his Approach the Troops of the opposite Party retir'd towards Czesochova.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Oct. 29.

Courtray, Oct. 23. The 19th of this Month Major General Murray came hither from the Army of the Allies, with a strong Detachment. The 20th he set Men to work to fortify this Town, and caus'd his Troops to encamp round it, to cover the 4000 Peasants or Soldiers that are working on those Fortifications. To day 2 Dutch Regiments arriv'd here; and several Boats laden with Pallisades and other Things necessary, and we expect 40 Pieces of Cannon that are to be plac'd on our Ramparts. The French are working on the Fortifications of Dismuyde.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated Octob. 29. &c.

Tournay, Octob. 26. Our Army is separated, and most of the Troops will be quarter'd in Namur, Mons, Conde, this Place, Lille, Valenciennes, Ipres, and Dunkirk: The Troops of the King's Household, which are extremely diminish'd, are order'd to march into Artois and thence further into France. Notwithstanding this City is furnish'd with regular and strong Fortifications, 'tis said that this Winter several new Works will be made, principally at the Gates of Lille and Audenaerde. The Enemy on their Side fortify Courtray, and repair the Works of Menin and Aeth; and on ours St. Gillain, Conde, Dixnuyde, and other Places that lye nearest to the Enemy's new Acquisitions, are likewise more strongly fortifying. The Elector of Bavaria is in Mons, and 'tis talk'd the Duke of Vendome will winter in Lille.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Octob. 30. &c.

Brussels, Octob. 27. Great Part of the Enemy's Troops being sent into Winter Quarters, the Duke of Vendome came to Mons on Saturday last, whence he will go to take a View of all the Frontier Places, and then go to Paris. The Count de Gace is to command in Lille, the Chevalier du Rozel in Tournay, and M. de Magnac in Valenciennes. Yesterday Morning the Army of the Allies broke up from Cambron, and now lies encamp'd with the Right at Gullinguin, and the Left within half a League of Enghien, whence the Quarter-masters went in the Afternoon to Hal, whither the Army advanc'd to Day, and is extended as far as Lennick. To Day at Noon the Duke of Marlborough came hither in a Calash to the Gate of Anderlecht, where he found several Persons of Quality and Officers on Horseback waiting his coming. His Grace mounted on Horseback, and at his Entrance into the said Gate was complimented by the Magistrates on his glorious Campaign, and presented with the Keys of the City Gates in a gilt Basin; he took them up and laid them down agen, assuring the Magistrates of his good Dispositions towards them. Three Salvoes were given by all the Artillery on the Batteries, and his Grace rid from the said Gate, the Burghers in Arms lining the Streets, to the Palace of Nassau, where he din'd. This Evening he made a Visit to the Countess of Soissons. His Grace intends to return the 30th to the Army, which 'tis thought will continue in the Field till the new Works at Courtray are perfected, which will be about the 5th of next Month, and will then separate to march into Quarters.
